Led lighting

It is a green light source: low operating voltage, low power consumption; stable performance, long life (usually 100,000 hours); impact resistance, strong vibration resistance; led lighting products can provide a high-quality light environment and improve the lighting system. Light effect, no infrared and ultraviolet components, high color rendering and strong luminous directionality; good dimming performance, no visual error when color temperature changes; cold light source has low calorific value and can be touched safely; improves glare, Reduce and eliminate light pollution. Zero flicker, no eye fatigue. No electromagnetic radiation, prevent radiation pollution and protect the brain.

Style

Modern business hotel suites are equipped with some modern minimalist table lamps, which are refreshing and simple, not sloppy, and also refreshing. Luxurious and high-grade table lamps are matched with suitable environments, and when the effect of embellishing the space is good, whether the lamp is on or off, it is a work of art. So for designers, you must consider whether the style, style, price, etc. of the lamp you design meet such needs.

Match

As the most frequently used area in the home, the living room undertakes many functions. It is suggested that the decoration of the living room can leave more potential to facilitate the use of different types of lamps. Generally, the indirect lighting of lamps, or the form of astigmatism + accent lighting, gives people a sense of simplicity and generosity. You can design some light strips on the TV or sofa background wall, and choose a low color temperature light source that can bring soft light. If the sofa in the living room sometimes wants to be used as a temporary reading area, you can consider buying a floor lamp or wall lamp next to the sofa
